FOUR DEEDS ARE

Two deeds recorded in the settlement of wills were filed Wednesday in the records office at the court house pertaining to the estates of the late Charles B. McElfish and John Schaidt.

John F. Schaidt and Mortimer F. Schaidt, administrators named in the Schaidt will, sold the property located at the corner of Decatur and Glenn streets to Ida L. Stark for $6000, which in turn was sold to Louis Stern, Inc.

Augustine M. McElfish and John W. Fogle, executors of the McElfish will, conveyed the property on the north side of Columbia street known as Lot 59 in Cephart's Second Addition to Charles Luther and B. Pauline Grosh for $3400.

Two other properties changed hands yesterday in the record's office.

Floyd W. and Delores M. Kaylor deeded the parcel of land on the easterly side of Cash Valley road in Election District 29, known as part of the tract called "Resurvey of Stoney Lick" to Millard and Betty Lou Krieriem, of RFD 1, Cumberland.

In a Frostburg transaction, Ella Neff deeded a property on Beall street known as Lot 4, Block 6, Beall's First Addition, to Virginia Neff.

Our Grim War Task Is Further Impressed

LOCAL DRAFT BOARDS have again sent two more groups of young men to Baltimore for induction into the armed forces, the total numbering forty-five.
This is further impressive reminder of the grim war against Japan. The departure of young men for further service now may seem to incur the glamour and seriousness that the first departing groups occasioned but they obtain just the same. These young men are just as much our defenders as the first who went. Victory over Germany, of course, lessened the tension for a period, yet while splendid progress is being made in the Pacific against the enemy, the stark reality faces us all that, as Navy Commander Harold E. Stassen says, Japan is not likely to be defeated without a long and bitter struggle. The war tension is back with us.

Cmdr. Stassen again warned that "any let-down on the home front costs lives on the fighting front—any delay in ship repairs, in turning out supplies, in the significant transport of new divisions—all this means that in a crucial time there will be deficiencies."
It is unnecessary to remind the great masses of Americans of the seriousness of the struggle yet facing the nation. The people generally are fully cognizant of the great task. But in some quarters the reminder seems necessary.

Unconditional surrender of the Japs would, as Stassen said, be the only thing that would stop the Pacific war, and this would be the wisest thing they could do, but there is little indication that the Japs have as yet had enough sense pounded into them to realize it so that, as Stassen says, we must count on a long and bitter fight.

There are, to be sure, some hopeful signs. There is the significant admission by Tokyo radio that "without being able to resist this [mounting air] challenge, we cannot annihilate the enemy on the home land" and its further announcement that the government has launched a "major drive" for a 600 per cent increase in the production of camphor to bolster the nation's dwindling supply of aviation fuel. The Japs asserted that the camphor would provide a "high quality" fuel for their planes. The Japanese had foretold, announcing plans to extract aircraft fuel from pine tree roots. This showed that the Japs are up against it for airplane fuel, as the result of the tightening of the circle around its homeland and the air blasting of its home supply.

The Japanese have also launched a new food program designed to speed the nation's food supply by "securely bolstering district self-sufficiency as a basic principle" and urged the use of hitherto unused materials for foodstuffs.
Yet, we must not become over-optimistic by these declarations. The program confronting us must be carried on as indicated by the departure of the new draftees and the report that the redeployment of American battle veterans of the European theater continues at a pace of the five hundred thousandth mark having been passed, only six days after the program to get them home and to the Pacific had started.

The point to be impressed now is that this nation with its allies must deliver the heavy punches to Japan now as speedily as possible before it has further chance to mount its defenses. That calls for the utmost endeavor on the home front as well as on the fighting lines and the approaches to them.

The CIO-PAC and a Debate Challenge

SINCE the newspaper shortage has prevented recording of all angles of the news, and since some labor leaders complain that their news doesn't get a fair break, it is only fair to pass along here for the benefit of readers something about what the CIO Political Action Committee has in mind. In order to reach a solution of the great labor problems facing the country, it is essential that the people be kept fully informed.

The committee, according to a dispatch from Washington, has chosen six major legislative issues on which to wage a campaign in opposition to what it called the "forces of reaction."
It said these forces are sharpening their attacks against labor and the people generally.

CIO President Philip Murray and CIO-PAC Chairman Sidney Hillman said after a meeting there is danger that these groups may try to prevent full implementation of the United Nations charter, oppose the Bretton Woods agreement and continue efforts to deprive the peoples of other nations of their opportunity to enjoy economic and political democracy.

Emphasizing it will act as an "independent, non-partisan political force and never as an adjunct of any political party," the statement said the CIO-PAC will intensify its educational campaign to achieve:
1-Vague adjustments to meet increased living costs.
2-Amendment of the Fair Labor Standards act to provide an immediate minimum wage of sixty-five cents an hour. This is now fixed at forty cents.
3-Legislation providing supplementary federal unemployment compensation benefits and extending such protection to federal and maritime workers and others not now covered.

4-Adequate appropriation for the FEPC and making this agency permanent.
5-Enactment of the Murray-Patman Full Employment bill and the Wagner-Murray-Dingell Social Security measure.
6-Prompt approval of the San Francisco charter and the Bretton

Woods monetary agreement without reservation.
"The PAC of course extends its full support to the efforts of President Truman and his administration to effectuate this program, which was charted by President Roosevelt," said the Murray-Hillman statement.

Some of these objectives will find agreement, others not. But there they are for what they are worth. They can be discussed and debated. In fact, the more discussing and debating we have on our labor problems the better for all concerned, which means every last one of us.

The country's most conspicuous labor leaders, William Green, Philip Murray and John L. Lewis, have blasted vigorously at the Hatch-Burton-Bail bill, which proposes a new Federal Industrial Relations act. Donald Richberg, chairman of the committee of citizens which worked out the preliminary draft of the measure, has challenged Green, Murray and Lewis, or their lawyers or other spokesmen, to defend their position in public debate.
That challenge ought to be accepted. The more light we have on such a serious proposal the better.

The Ambassador Is Saved by Two Boys

UNFORTUNATELY, many good human interest stories are crowded out of the newspapers these days by the war emergency and by the curtailment of space resulting from the shortage of newsprint.

But here is one that deserves attention, coming in a dispatch from Washington and noting that two boys, one 11 and the other 13, saved the crack Baltimore and Ohio train, the Ambassador, which passes regularly through Cumberland. Here is the way it was related by B. and O. spokesmen.

Two Prince Georges county, Md., boys, Eugene Caudell and Bobby Ricks, were walking along the tracks during Tuesday's storm. Lightning struck a giant tree, and it fell across the tracks. The boys didn't know it, but the next train was the Ambassador, bound for Detroit from Baltimore by way of Washington.

The youngsters scampered to the nearest house, where Mrs. William Wright phoned police. Their warning went through to the ticket agent at Laurel, Md., who flagged the train.

And in the nick of time, too. Ninety seconds later, railroad officials said, and it would have been too late.
The presence of mind displayed by these two youngsters and their sense of duty call for commendation. There is only one little flaw about it, which should be noted in the event other youngsters should seek to gain plaudits for saving trains. They were walking along the railroad tracks—and that is no place for little boys to walk, regardless.

Car Drivers May Go Out in Front

ARTHUR W. STEVENS, president of the Automobile Safety Association, has launched a "major drive" for a 600 per cent increase in the production of camphor to bolster the nation's dwindling supply of aviation fuel. The Japs asserted that the camphor would provide a "high quality" fuel for their planes. The Japanese had foretold, announcing plans to extract aircraft fuel from pine tree roots. This showed that the Japs are up against it for airplane fuel, as the result of the tightening of the circle around its homeland and the air blasting of its home supply.

The Japanese have also launched a new food program designed to speed the nation's food supply by "securely bolstering district self-sufficiency as a basic principle" and urged the use of hitherto unused materials for foodstuffs.
Yet, we must not become over-optimistic by these declarations. The program confronting us must be carried on as indicated by the departure of the new draftees and the report that the redeployment of American battle veterans of the European theater continues at a pace of the five hundred thousandth mark having been passed, only six days after the program to get them home and to the Pacific had started.

The point to be impressed now is that this nation with its allies must deliver the heavy punches to Japan now as speedily as possible before it has further chance to mount its defenses. That calls for the utmost endeavor on the home front as well as on the fighting lines and the approaches to them.

The Revolutionary war, according to Leatherneck, the Marines' magazine, cost us 700,000,000. It was one of the world's best bargains.

One old proverb King Leopold of Belgium will never believe in again is that one about, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder."

THOSE IN FRONT OF THE COUNTER

Recently I talked about the discourtesy, so marked in stores and shops, on the part of clerks. Well, of course there are two sides to every problem—and I have heard from the other side. Clerks have told me the stories of those in front of the counter—the customers themselves.

I can sympathize with those clerks. There is not only discourtesy on the part of many of these customers, but downright brutality. I witnessed an example of this while waiting for service in a small store. The customer asked that a certain piece of cooked meat be cut out from the center for her. The clerk said this could not be done for then it would be unfair to others. The customer broke loose with a blistering stream of vulgar abuse and walked out of the store.

Store keepers have been blamed for not having things that the customer should well know cannot be sold now. There are scarcities galore. Many customers, in certain stores, tip the merchant in order to get push service—a practice so unfair and grossly selfish that no comment is necessary.

In face of the terrific sacrifices being made by our boys in this tragic war, it seems like such a simple service to render them by accepting any, and all, sacrifices on our part on the home front. We should avoid the black market as we would the plague—for it is a plague upon the honor and freedom that are so precious to us, and to save which, boys and men are dying daily. Let us demonstrate that democracy can work even when we are called upon to go without. It's so little to be expected of us.

Let us be fair and just about buying. Let us consider the unhappy problem of the merchant, and let us— in front of the counter—prove our fairness and sense of justice by also being courteous and considerate. And let us be patient. So many fine things come to him who can afford to wait!

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—There is more than meets the eye behind the appointment of Carl Moran, ex-congressman from Maine, as new assistant secretary of labor.

It probably means a gradual movement away from left-wing labor groups and no more "clearing it with Sidney."

Moran is one of the early New Dealers, a forthright, hard-hitting liberal; one of the few Democrats ever elected to Congress from the rock-ribbed Republican state of Maine. He joined with GOP Senator Owen Brewster when the latter, now governor, fought the Insular power interests, and he, himself, came within a close margin of being elected a Democratic governor of Maine.

After two terms in Congress, Moran was appointed to the Maritime Commission, got fed up with the dictatorial methods of Adm. Land, and went back to Maine to run his father's insurance company. Moran is pro-labor, will fight for labor when it is right, but will also fight against labor when it is wrong. No one could have had a more pro-Roosevelt record when in Congress; but, on the other hand, Moran is one of the closest friends of labor-enemy Ed Burke, counsel for the coal operators.

The two got to know each other when Burke was in the House and later in the Senate from Nebraska. And John L. Lewis would have had fits the other night if he had looked in on a private party where the new secretary of labor, Lew Schwelbenach, and his new assistant secretary, Carl Moran, were entertaining Ed Burke, representative of the bituminous coal operators and bitter enemy of the United Mine Workers.

What is bound to rile the CIO regarding the Moran appointment is that the first assistant secretary of labor is an AFL man, Dan Tracy, and the job of second assistant secretary was to have been given to a CIO man, John Gibson, of Detroit. Gibson was named just before Roosevelt died, but his name never went to the Senate. Now Moran gets his place.

Moran will be a fair and impartial supporter of labor. But his appointment undoubtedly means an increasing rift in the already widening gap between Hannegan and Hillman.

Note—Later Moran will be made

IT'S HIS PROBLEM

Inside fact is that it was because of bickering between U. S. agencies that arrangements for governing Berlin were not worked out exactly one year ago. The Russians, during the summer of 1944, were ready to arrange the details regarding post-war Germany. The British had been before the European Advisory Committee on which Ambassador Winant sits as U. S. representative, and at that time—"while the tears were hot"—we could have written pretty much our own terms.

However, the War Department wanted sole authority to handle postwar Germany. They didn't want Ambassador Winant in the picture, nor other U. S. civilian agencies. Things drifted all during the summer, until finally Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau brought the situation to a climax by pointing out to the president that almost nothing had been done.

Showdown Demanded
The army then called for a showdown and stuck to its demand that it have sole authority to handle Germany after the armistice. Roosevelt concurred. But even then nothing was done to iron things out with the Russians—and things dragged on until Yalta, nearly six months later.

While there's no use crying over split milk, there is one lesson to be gained from this, namely—settle plans for postwar Japan now, while Truman is in Berlin. Instead of waiting until the Pacific war is over.

Note—Leon Henderson was one man who foresaw what was going to happen in Germany. When FDR sent him over with a view to becoming economic czar of Germany, he came back to report that it would be impossible to govern Germany if it was divided into three different areas, coal and iron in one, agriculture in another, and shipping in the third.

"Feather-Bedding Soldiers"
It now seems almost dim history since Jimmy Byrnes urged Congress to pass the Work-or-Fight bill, but there's been an interesting aftermath in army camps.

During debates on the Work-or-Fight bill, several army camps, loaded with an excess of men, quickly cleaned house. The army didn't want congressional committees finding any feather-bedding of troops so shipped a lot of them off to training centers. Camp Lee, Va., was one which got loaded up from other camps, and proceeded to put these surplus men through truck schools, laundry, refrigeration, administration and other service schools.

Now they have completed their training, but these trained men are still kept hanging around doing kitchen police, picking up cigarette butts and various other odd jobs, waiting for reassignment.
Requests have come in from other camps for some of them, but Camp Lee replies that they are general service men, not limited service, therefore can't be regularly assigned to duty in the U. S. A. So they continue to wait, morale ankle-high, hoping to get some duty besides K. P.

New Business Has Big Failure Rate, Babson Warns

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., July 12.—Too many returning servicemen want to go into business for themselves. This is a good sign of initiative, independence and enterprise; but let me warn such that starting a business of one's own is a serious and risky matter. Better buy into a going business—if possible one in which one's family is now engaged.

Pioneering is profitable when it succeeds, but such success requires patience, hard work and sacrifice. Besides, one should have sufficient capital to carry him through several years of struggle. It is believed that over ninety per cent of the people starting new businesses fail. This statement applies not only to develop new kinds of business, but also to starting new factories or opening new stores in competition with existing factories and stores.

The great mass of people are accustomed by their acquired habits. They tend to purchase at the same store, year in and year out, although other stores may give them better service. They buy "the same kind of food, shoes and household goods even though better products are in the market for less money. They read the same newspaper and magazines, making it very difficult for a new publication to get a foothold. Established habits make it especially hard for new concerns.

Need of More Education
Of course, there are enough exceptions to the above rule to bait on newcomers who try to do likewise. The few successful new firms, keep people continually starting new businesses. I am strongly in favor of helping the small businessman who is already operating a small factory or retail store. But I do advise parents of returning veterans to warn their sons against trying to be pioneers unless they have great patience, good health and sufficient capital. Better buy an established business. But to succeed in any business a man should have a business education.

Therefore, returning servicemen should go to some school to learn the basic principles of business or else get a job which will enable them to learn such principles. It is a great mistake to go out into the postwar business world without first studying economics, accounting, distribution and production whether you are to have a business of your own some day, or are always to work for some one else.

Analyze Your Sons

Every returning service man should analyze himself and determine for what he is best fitted. Here are the six main groups: (1) The Professions, such as medicine, law and the ministry. (2) Engineering including chemistry and electricity. (3) Real estate, building and construction work. (4) Agriculture, forestry and horticulture. (5) Manufacturing, designing and assembling. (6) Merchandizing, advertising and promotion. But to succeed under competitive postwar conditions, in any one of these groups, a man should have a year's education in business.

To help returning service men get such a business education the U. S. government will give $500 per year for tuition and $50 a month for board and lodging, with perhaps certain additional aid for men with children. Certainly every returning service man should jump at this chance. In years to come he will look back upon such training for business as the most valuable year of his life.

Play Safe

Just one more word to service men: Don't get hippped with the idea that you should go into electronics, plastics, aviation or some other "new glamorous industry." Don't go back on the old and established industries. Remember that of the 886 concerns which began to manufacture radios following World War I, only 144 now exist! Remember that for every one airplane sold during the postwar era there will be sold a million loaves of bread! Remember that since the days when our great, grandfathers read by candle light, the humble candle has been subject to fierce competition by whale oil, kerosene, gas, electricity and electronic devices were sold last year than in any previous year in our history!

Report by Gates Discloses Might In Navy Strikes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, July 12.—By coincidence the navy's carrier air force against Japan comes just at the time that the comprehensive report by Artemus L. Gates, under secretary of the navy, is released with some hitherto undisclosed information on the conduct of the war by the navy's air arm.

The public reads of many kinds of airplanes being used in the general attack against Japan—planes that are flown by the aviators of the army, navy and marine corps—but it is not always apparent to the layman the exact purposes which each air arm performs.

Thus at the moment only what might be called defensive operations are in progress from the newly acquired bases at Okinawa—that is, strikes are being made at Japanese airfields from which the Japanese might possibly fly southward. The army air forces, in relatively small numbers, under the over-all command of Gen. MacArthur are operating from Okinawa and it may take several months before Okinawa becomes the effective base against Japan. The navy, on the other hand, is relatively small numbers, under the over-all command of Gen. MacArthur are operating from Okinawa and it may take several months before Okinawa becomes the effective base against Japan.

Precision Job Now
Meanwhile, the navy is roaming the Pacific close to the shores of Japan with its floating bases known as aircraft carriers. From the decks of these carriers, protected by battleships, cruisers, and destroyers, navy and marine corps planes that are designed to do a precision job of bombing on particular targets are being flown. It is possible for the U. S. Navy carrier planes today to fly across any or all sections of Japan, striking first at the eastern shores of the island empire and reaching into the Sea of Japan near Korea. These carrier planes, if sufficiently numerous, could do as much damage as the B-29's of the army because the carrier planes fly at lower altitudes and can select their industrial targets.

But fortunately every conceivable kind of bomber operation can be used to advantage against Japan. So while the B-29's must be content at present to make the long round trip from the Philippines until such time as Okinawa bases are ready, the navy is doing its part in the softening-up job for the eventual landing of Gen. MacArthur's forces on Japan.

The accomplishments of the naval air service are revealed by Mr. Gates in his formal report to the secretary of the navy, cover not only operations in the Pacific where the navy's aviators paved the way for Gen. MacArthur's return to the Philippines but anti-submarine operations in the Atlantic. More than half the submarines sunk by our navy were sunk by naval aviation.

Amazing Number

Including the marine corps personnel, naval aviation now has a personnel of 750,000, of which more than fifty-one per cent are on carriers, in air groups, squadrons and fleet service units. This is an amazing number—larger, in fact, than the combined personnel of the army and navy before the war.

Mr. Gates stresses the fact that naval aviation is a specialized arm of the navy but an integral part nevertheless. He quotes Lord Keyes, admiral of the fleet of the British navy, now retired, who wrote recently of our naval successes in 1944.

"The success of the battle for the Philippines," Lord Keyes said, "was only made possible because the United States Navy had been free to develop its own naval aviation. It has been done with amazing skill and enterprise and on a gigantic scale. Furthermore, it has shown that in the complex business of waging war on the seas, it cannot be set down as a maximum that any one factor can be exclusively decisive."

Pointing out that naval pilots were called upon at Okinawa to "blast fortified positions over hills and around corners in addition to targets beyond reach of ship or shore-based artillery," Mr. Gates declares that "the close air support furnished our assault forces on Okinawa was as effective as that used in the Philippines and on Iwo Jima."

Report Significant

Mr. Gates' report is significant in opposition to the current agitation for a consolidated or separate air force.

"Naval aviation, proudly including its component, marine aviation," he says, "is of course an integral part of the navy and operates in conjunction with the surface and sub-surface forces. It is not an autonomous or separate fighting organization nor should it be. In inviting your attention to the accomplishments of naval aviation, that the surface and sub-surface over which I have had supervision for almost four years, I fully realize that the surface and sub-surface navy would also present imposing records."

There is in the navy a spirit of co-operation between all its branches because all component parts feel their dependence on one another and believe in co-operation rather than separation. This is a healthy contribution to the effectiveness of sea power as a whole toward the final victory in this global war.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

LONDON—Well, here we are on the banks of the river Thames, pronounced "Tmmms." What amazes me most about London is the number of Englishmen here. In some places they almost outnumber the Americans.

London always has been one of my favorite towns and I'm happy to report that it's looking pretty good. You still see empty craters that mark the spots where houses once stood and people lived but they've been tidied up and flowers are blooming in the ruins.

I can understand now how the English were able to stand up under the blitz. They were toughened up by riding in London taxicabs. These British cars all look like something that was rejected by the Smithsonian Institution. They're so high, the doorman don't help you in—the driver has to let down a rope ladder.

I drove through St. James park today and saw one traditional sheep grazing there as they have for hundreds of years. But now they may have to put a halt to it because of the shortage of food. Civilians are complaining that the sheep are eating all of the best grass. Yesterday's food is really scarce here. This is the only place in the world where "Man bites dog" isn't news!

I also notice that English gentlemen still carry their handkerchiefs in their sleeves. I tried the same trick for a while but had to give it up. My handkerchiefs were made too much of a bulge. And I'm trying to pick up an English accent, too. But it's rather difficult learning to talk without using your mouth!

Everywhere you go, you see people queuing up. "Queuing up"—that's a British expression meaning "Go down that way past two half signs, turn right and go a block and a half and there's the end of the line!" They even stand in line here for things the store has got. The other day a Londoner got married and when the preacher said, "Now you may kiss the bride," the man said, "Righto. Will there be much of a wait?"

Well, I have to go now. I want to drop over to No. 10 Downing street and see if I can find any of Churchill's cigar butts.

Woman Ponders Divorcing Her Grouchy Husband

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

"Dear Miss Fairfax: We've been married twenty years and have twin boys of 18, now in the navy. My husband has been indifferent to me since shortly after our marriage, and has not taken me out many times. He is polite to relatives on both sides, but that's all. He will have nothing else to do with them.

He continually nags. Doesn't like anything about me—looks, clothes, housekeeping, conversation, etc. When the boys were small I was an actual "prisoner," but since they've grown up I've done as I please. I have my own money which my parents give me. I belong to church groups and clubs, so I know I'm not hopeless.

"When my husband wants to be nice he knows how. Some outsiders have said I'm lucky to have such a charming husband. But if they could only see him at home. He pouts, and won't speak to me or eat at home for several weeks at a time. And then he'll say "Let's break up." I've stood a lot of unhappiness for the sake of the boys, but now that they've grown up and are in the navy, I'm wondering what to do. Shall I take him at his word next time, and "break up?"

A. ST. C."

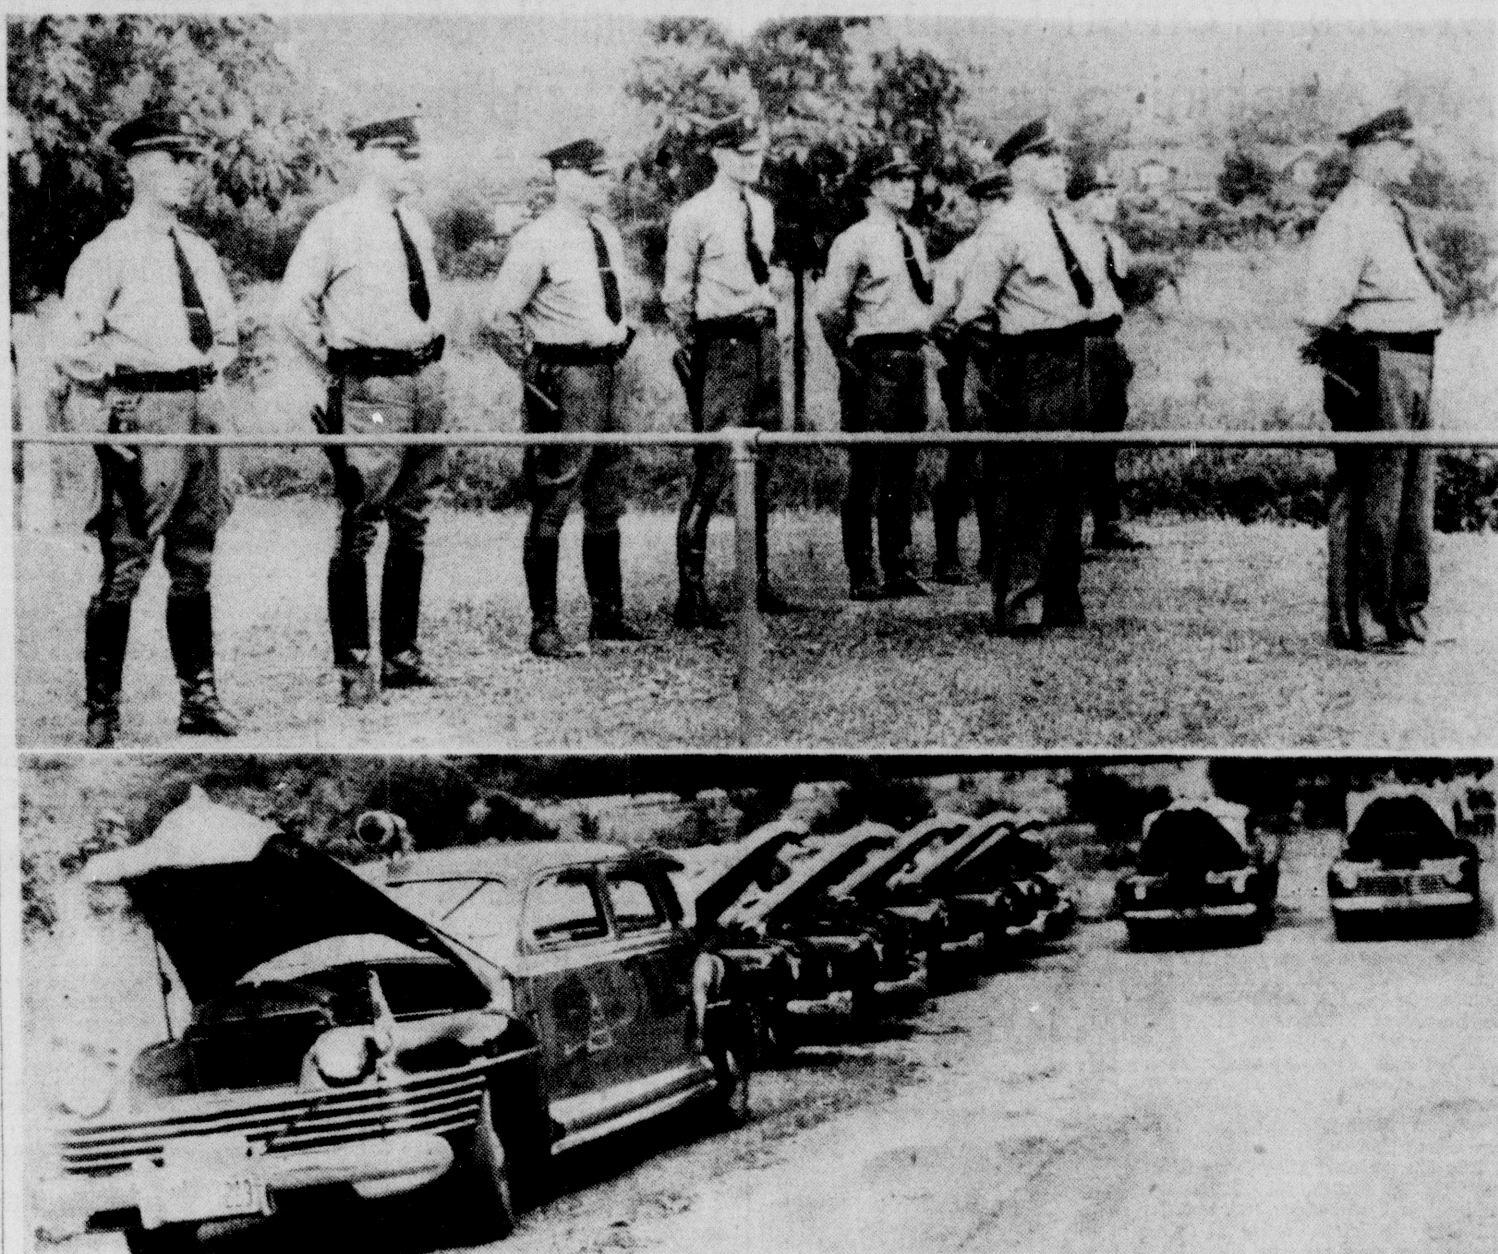

If you take your husband at his word and "break up," don't expect to face life as you did before you married him. Twenty years experience is too deep to erase. We are all such creatures of habit—associations, memories, impressions are bound to assert themselves. In the final analysis, only you can make the decision concerning divorce.

You must put to yourself searching questions: "How is this going to affect my two boys now serving in the Navy?" If you return to your parents' roof, how will they receive you? And how will you feel about living as a daughter in their house after having had your own home? What are your skills? Are you sufficiently interested in anything to make a satisfactory career for yourself? Or have you got in the back of your mind that beguiling day-dream that you may marry some other man and live happily ever after?

Tearing up the roots of one's being, after twenty years, is a difficult process, and successful transplanting requires extraordinary skill in the art of living. I put all these cards on the table for you because I've had numberless letters from men and women who've gone through divorce and then felt only loneliness and a sense of frustration. As one woman wrote me: "I'd be glad to hear him storming 'round and raising Cain again." Meanwhile, divorce, like a surgical operation, is sometimes necessary.

Partnership Dispute Settled out of Court

Agreement in a dispute over a partnership in a grocery store at Pekin was settled out of court yesterday morning shortly after a hearing started before Chief Judge William A. Huster. Edward H. Jackson had filed suit against Peter J. Colmer asking for a receivership and injunction. Pleasant Valley Homemakers Will Have Outing

The Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club formulated plans for a winter outing at the home of Mrs. Blanche Rephann. It will be held for members, their families and friends on August 13 at the Prosperity church, and will take the place of the August business meeting.

Committees appointed include Refreshment, Mrs. Ambrose Miltenberger, Mrs. J. G. Altstetter and Mrs. Clayton Odgers; and Recreation, Mrs. Tony McElfish, Mrs. James Davis, Mrs. Earl Manges and Mrs. Edgar Rephann.

A report was given on the honor roll, recently erected at the intersection of the Pleasant Valley road and the Baltimore Pike, under the sponsorship of the club.

Miss Maude A. Bean outlined plans for a pageant entitled, "I Am an American." She also exhibited a map of the world and members placed stars on it for their husbands, sons and daughters in the service. Blue stars were for those in the states, silver, overseas and gold for those who have made the supreme sacrifice.

Doris Burgen won first prize for her newspaper dress designed by Evelyn Messick. William and James Hiser played several selections on their saxophone and accordion.

At the business session following the program George Mease was assigned instructor of the archery classes which will begin next week. W. E. Landfelt, executive chairman, reported on the progress of the playground for the past month. He stated that the equipment is in good condition and used by approximately 150 to 200 children daily. The report also showed that within the next week or two the basketball and volleyball courts will be ready for use. Mr. Landfelt also reported that the association is receiving good co-operation from the city officials in obtaining equipment and carrying on the playground functions.

Mrs. Catherine Condon, play leader, outlined the program schedules for the next few weeks and said the children heartily endorse the flag raising exercise marking the opening of the days activities.

Plans will be formulated for the annual festival at the next meeting, to be held August 1.

LISTEN WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson
(Registered U. S. Patent Office)

One of our great business organizations used an advertising slogan lately. Sorry I can't remember the sponsor, but here are my apologies, gentlemen, and my gratitude for six words which should be immortal—

"Morale is made of little things." Never have we Americans needed that phrase so much. "Morale" that's a dramatic word. We've never used it frequently before, and we're apt to attach a lot of fireworks to it now. We think it should sweep through us with a great surge of courage and exaltation, lifting us above the common fears and discouragement . . . blotting out our resentment . . . glorifying our lives. We think it should fire us to heroic deeds. And if it doesn't, we feel cheated and embittered. But we're wrong. Morale isn't composed like that.

"Morale is made of little things." It isn't a glittering parade . . . or a supernatural phenomenon. It doesn't fill us with rockets or poems, nor is it accompanied by brass bands.

"Morale is made of little things." It's made of the little things that happen in us when we are quite alone. Physically, we may be surrounded by many people—or we may be solitary, looking at an empty chair, a discarded suit. But whether we are in a crowd or alone, morale is always a private matter, a personal battle.

Morale is the conflict between your pretty self and the ideal vision of your soul.

front where you win or surrender the noble issues of your life.

Morale is the choice you make between being a narrow, prejudiced human animal or a part of an eternal and magnificent cause.

"Morale is made of little things." It is made of the smile you give when your heart is wedged in your throat.

It is made of the patience and self control you exhibit when the office work is scrambled through lack of manpower. It is made of the special dinner you concocted for a worried husband and a clamoring bunch of youngsters in spite of the rationing. It is made of that extra war tax you are paying willingly when your pocket is already bankrupt.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

"Morale is made of little things." It isn't a sudden burst of strength or splendor handed from the heavens.

It's the common warp and woof of our daily lives. It's the plain stuff of our ordinary human courage and decency and kindness.

It's the brief bit of beauty we catch as we hurry along—

It's the hand clasp and friendship we stop to give—

It's the prayer we breathe when we hear the bells at twilight—

Sgt. Ellis Byers Gels Bronze Star For Heroic Action

By MARIE MERRBACH

LONACONING, July 12 — Staff Sgt. Ellis G. Byers, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Byers, Furnace street, Lonaconing, received the Bronze Star for bravery in action when he distinguished himself by heroic achievement in preparing to launch an assault.

Sgt. Byers' battalion was subjected to a strong enemy counter-attack. Ordering his mortar squad on to start firing, he exposed himself to an intense enemy mortar and artillery barrage in order to direct and adjust the mortar fire. Although under enemy observation and aware of the proximity of enemy patrols, Sgt. Byers remained at his position, enabling a heavy volume of effective fire to be brought to bear on the attacking enemy.

On one occasion, he personally fired his M-1 neutralizing a position occupied by snipers and then resumed directing the mortar fire. Sgt. Byers' devotion to duty, complete disregard for personal safety and courageous actions, contributed materially to the repelling of the enemy thrust, and was at all times, a credit to himself and to the armed forces of the United States, the citation stated.

German souvenirs of war sent by Sgt. Byers to his nephew have been on display this week in the M. Eichhorn store display window.

Check on Tax Stamps
More than 100 cars of the many checked in three days by Harold Bailey, Internal revenue representative, did not show the federal use sticker. Internal revenue men all over the country were checking to see if they displayed the federal sticker and during the three days Bailey was observing in Moorefield, he found more than 100 which did not have the sticker displayed. Upon being reminded, many driver showed the sticker, claiming they were carrying them in pocket books.

The local post office, where the stickers can be purchased, did a land office business, selling more than 120 Tuesday, the first day. Bailey checked, and again on Thursday having many calls.

The law requiring that drivers display the federal sticker, has teeth in it, providing for a fine of not more than $25 or a jail sentence of not more than thirty days, or both for the violator brought to book before the federal attorney.

For those not clearing their stickers, the post office has an adequate supply and has not at any time been out of them since the stamps were released.

Marriage Is Announced
Miss Rue Evelyn Ardinger, "Miss Moorefield High School, 1942," was married June 30, 1944, to Harold Suddreth Fawcett.

The ceremony took place in the Sixth Presbyterian church, Washington, D. C., with the Rev. J. Herbert Garner officiating at the double ring service.

Mrs. Fawcett, daughter of Thomas E. Ardinger, Cumberland, and the late Mrs. Martha Feltner Ardinger, wore a white net wedding gown with fitted lace bodice, train and long pointed sleeves. Her finger tip veil was attached to a lace Juliet cap and she carried white roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Hazel De Rose, her matron of honor, a cousin of the bride, wore blue lace trimmed net and carried an old fashioned bouquet, and the maid of honor, Miss Elsie D. Trump, wore pale yellow marquisette and also carried an old fashioned bouquet.

Mr. Fawcett is the son of Frank Fawcett, Grafton, and is a chief petty officer in the United States Navy, stationed in Washington, D. C., where the couple will make their home.

Since graduating from Moorefield high school in 1942, Mrs. Fawcett has been employed in the department of the Interior in Washington.

C. O. Fawcett and Mrs. Fawcett spent Monday and Tuesday in Moorefield with Mrs. Fawcett's aunt, Mrs. Robert Wilson and family.

Capon Post 2102, Veterans of Foreign Wars, has recently admitted veterans of the present war with foreign service records to its organization.

At the June meeting Wilbur A. Lafolette of Capon Springs and Franklin L. Boud, Jr., Rio, were made members. Several of these young men are still with the armed forces.

The August meeting will mark the tenth anniversary of the Capon Post at Wardsville and Commander L. J. Boyle indicates that plans are being made for some special observance. It is hoped that a member of the State department V. F. W. will be present at that time. The Post meets regularly the first Saturday night in each month.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury which met Monday, against Dasher Hefner and Elmer Hose, both felony cases.

Opinion in Right-of-Way Suit Is Upheld by Court

Chief Judge William A. Huster yesterday upheld his opinion handed down in February in which he found that an Eckhart family had a right of way, by necessity, through an alley which had been closed to them.

When appealed, the higher court affirmed Judge Huster's opinion but remanded the case back to the circuit court to give both parties an opportunity to present additional evidence.

The case was brought by Charles C. Laurie against Martin Howard Condry who declared that the only thoroughfare to and from his home over Condry's property had been closed to him by a fence. The respondent in the case denied the allegation that the route over his land was the only means of getting in and out the complainant had, declaring he could find another one.

The disputed right of way led off the Parkersburg road, a public highway, over a portion of the respondent's property to Laurie's residence. The matter was hotly contested with the complainant charging that Condry had at one time "locked in" a farmer with a team of horses which had come to the Laurie property for the purpose of ploughing a field.

After finding for the complainant in the original case, Judge Huster passed a decree directing that an injunction be issued enjoining Condry from interfering with Laurie's use of the alley.

After examining additional evidence, Judge Huster yesterday upheld his earlier opinion declaring that no alternate route out of Laurie's premises is legally available and if it were, the cost of construction of an alternate route would be unreasonably out of proportion to the value of Laurie's land.

Local Soldier Wins Discharge

Sgt. George S. Bennett, 43, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Bennett, Flintstone, and husband of Mrs. Naomi Fogle Bennett, 828 Shawnee avenue, who has been serving as a signal repairman with General Patton's Third army since August, has been honorably discharged from service.

Bennett, a technician fourth grade in the Eighth Signal company, arrived in this country July 1 on the Calvin Coolidge and was separated from service at Camp Meade Sunday.

The local soldier said the captain gave the returning servicemen the "run of the ship" and that he enjoyed every minute of the voyage home.

Sgt. Bennett, who wears the European Theater of Operations ribbon with four battle stars, served in England, France, Luxembourg, Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia.

In Austria on V-E day, Bennett reported he had been on several trips through the Bavarian Alps and described the section in glowing terms. I learned first-hand, he added, that the "Danube river is really blue".

He was employed on mechanical repair work at Flintstone before he entered service July 1, 1942. After training at Camp Forrest, Tenn., Sgt. Bennett trained in the California-Arizona maneuver area before leaving for foreign service July 1, 1944. His only son, George Stephen, was born sixteen days later.

Both of his parents, who have been gravely ill for some time, are reported improving at their home in Flintstone.

Postburg Sergeant Is Home on Furlough from Hospital

By RUDOLPH NICKEL
FROSTBURG, July 12.—Tech. Sgt. William B. Prichard, who entered the armed forces May 26, 1943, and served in England and France with the Three Hundred Eleventh Central Postal Directory, arrived in the United States on June 12, landing at Boston. From Boston he was transferred to Woodrow Wilson General Hospital, Staunton, Va., remaining there until June 29, when he came to Frostburg to spend a thirty-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. I. Prichard, 69 Broadway. Sgt. Prichard, who is suffering from a dislocation of the shoulder, will report back to the hospital at the end of his furlough to undergo an operation. He is a graduate of Beall high school in 1940 and Penn State college in 1944. In 1943, he was a member of the engaged reserve corps.

While overseas, Sgt. Prichard met Robert Elias, former Frostdburg, Warminster, England. He spent months in Paris and had an opportunity to learn much about the French people and customs. He took English and in the section back he was quartered, the school teachers, who appeared younger than the average in the United States, taught during the day and were required to attend night school.

Sgt. Prichard is a brother of Staff Sgt. Robert Prichard, who is in the Pacific area, having recently been transferred from India to China. He is attached to the ordnance corps of the army.

Scout Meeting Planned

Kenneth Jackson, executive of the local council, Boy Scouts of America, will preside at a meeting at 8 p. m. in Beall elementary school for the purpose of explaining plans for the organization of a Frostdburg pack. The meeting is being arranged by Bradley S. Kehoe, cubmaster-elect of Pack No. 2. A number of persons who will serve as den chiefs and den mothers and den dads will be selected from among the parents to attend the meeting.

Kehoe states that the demand for organization of the Frostdburg pack has become so insistent that the Boy Scout organization willingly presented to do everything possible to aid in the movement.

The number one requirement, he says, is the full interest of parents in every boy of cub age, which is to be eleven years. The meeting will be held in the school auditorium.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEREIN, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEREIN at any drug store. —Advertisement store.

Prisoner of War Parcel Labels Not Available Now, Mrs. Dean Says

No labels for use on packages to be sent to prisoners of the Japanese are being issued at the present time by the provost marshal's office because the Japanese government has not guaranteed the delivery of such packages, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary of the Allegheny county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. Dean said that when delivery of the packages is made possible, the labels will be issued direct to the next of kin of prisoners by the provost marshal. No charge is made for the labels, and no packages may be sent without them.

Besides recent shipments of Red Cross packages of food and medicine to prisoners held in Japan, 30,000 books have also been sent by the War Prisoners Aid of the national YMCA and by the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Mrs. Dean said.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED TO CHARLES E. FOY

A coal miner who charged that his wife had become dissatisfied with living in Mt. Savage, Md., and declared she wouldn't live with him there anymore, Wednesday received a divorce in circuit court. After leaving her husband the wife moved to Ridgeley, W. Va.

The action was brought by Charles E. Foy, 37, against Iva Mae Foy. They were married in 1931 and Foy was awarded custody of three children, aged 12, 10 and 7.

Foy testified "we moved to Mt. Savage where I worked in the coal mines and she became dissatisfied and said she would not live here with me any longer. I came home from work one day and found her gone but she had left a note. So she went to Ridgeley."

A partial decree yesterday was granted to Charles Paul Roeder, 32, contractor, of 496 Williams street, from Frances S. Roeder. The couple were married in 1939 at McAlester, Okla., and separated April 1, 1945.

Another decree was granted to Helen Grace Davis, 55, of 128 Frederick street, from Llewellyn F. Davis. The couple were married at New Castle, Pa., in 1924, and lived together until July, 1938.

Series of Petty Thefts Reported

A new series of petty robberies was reported yesterday as city and county authorities were continuing investigation into two serious thefts.

The most recent was a report that some boys stole the rope from the flagpole at East Side playground some time after 9:30 p. m. Tuesday. Alva Beavers, blind operator of a concession in the Union Street county building, has reported to authorities that a small quantity of chewing gum was stolen from him several days ago.

Police believe the same person may be responsible for the rifling of the glove compartment of William E. Bishop's car as it was parked in the rear of the same building Tuesday. Bishop, bailiff of trial magistrates court, said the thief took the car keys, registration card, driver's license and other important cards.

Nothing was taken from the car of C. J. White, area OPA rent inspector, yesterday by the person who rifled the glove compartment of the car which was parked, unlocked, in the rear of the Union Street building.

City and county authorities, in the meanwhile, are investigating the theft of $1,400 from Luigi Santoro, 213 Hay street. The money, representing the savings of ten years, was taken from an overstuffed chair in which the Italian tailor had placed the money. Also under investigation is the theft of $235 from the purse of Margaret Sensabaugh, North Cedar street, at the Glenora inn, Valley road, early Tuesday.

Child Slightly Hurt When Struck by Car

Carol Ann Reed, 4, 410 Arch street, was treated in Memorial hospital Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. for brush burns on the arms and legs after she was struck by a car at the intersection of Fourth and Arch streets at 8:15 p. m.

Attaches said the child was brought to the hospital by the driver of the car, Mrs. Howard Huff, 609 Elwood street.

Officer J. Carl Stouffer, who investigated, was told the child ran into the car as Mrs. Huff was driving on Arch street. No charges were preferred.

Prowler Is Reported On Williams Street

Residents of the 500 block of Williams street have reported to police that a night prowler has been active in the neighborhood. The man, seen lurking in bushes Tuesday evening, was scared away when porch lights were turned on, residents reported.

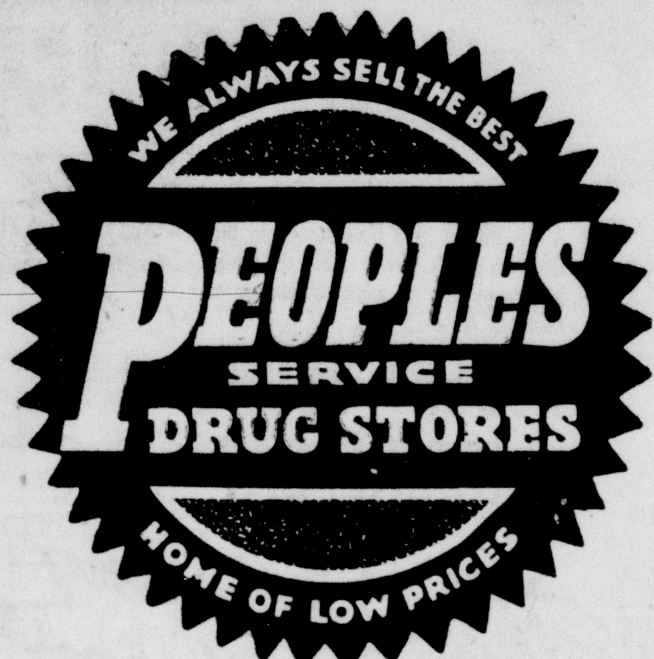

A group of youths were reported to have torn up fruit trees and gardens of the old Golden farm Willowbrook road section. Tuesday Police were told half-grown corn stalks were pulled up by the roots.

Pilot seats for aircraft are being made by a former baby carriage plant.

Alton Nave Tops Pen-Mar Batsmen For First Half

Reds' Infielder Hits .500; Pennsylvanians Batted .302 as Team

Connecting for eighteen safeties in thirty-six trips to the plate, Alton Nave, of Centerville, paced the batsmen of the Pen-Mar Baseball League during the first half of the first game, according to official figures compiled by Howard Northcraft, league president.

Nave appeared in all ten games played by the first half champions, Melvin Bohrer, of Cumberland Legion, also turned in a 500-average for eight games and twenty-six times at bat.

"Pete" Cook, of the Reds, hit .479 and Charles "Sonny" Walters, of Queen City, rapped the pellet .474 clip. Other regulars who were in the 400 circle include Cecil Warnick, Blaine McKenzie, and Ed Thompson, of Lonaconing; "Bee" Scarpelli, of Froburg, and Clyde McClellan, of Midland.

Centerville was the only club to hit in the 300 class during the first half.

Ed Thompson and David Rose were the league's leading extra base swatters with seven to their credit. Glenn Street, of the Reds, and Walters, Queen City, each pilfered seven bases to tie for homers in the stolen base department.

The batting averages:

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD
NEW YORK, July 12—Spotlight bands of MBS, which since it moved from ABC didn't have the Friday night half-hour at 9:30, now take possession of that time tomorrow. It was made possible by the moving of Double or Nothing to Sun-

Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwelmerbach, newly taking office from Frances Perkins, is on the list of NBC as it 10:45 fifteen-minute speaker. Although Eddie Cantor is on vacation, that doesn't mean he isn't around the radio studios. Another occasion comes in his guesting with the summer Ray Bolger show on CBS at 10. Archibald MacLeish again will be

Memoriam
A tribute of love to my dear wife, Edna Estelle, who passed away on July 13, 1944.

July 13th brings sad memories of a loved one who has passed away.
Who will always be remembered by the ones who love her best.

When one you care for has departed,
and you sit alone and broken-hearted,
There's something in a kindred mind
That always leaves a sense behind
Of true companionship. I know
The pain it was to see you go.
Your memory softens everything—
The grave is the victory—death its sting.
I who loved you, sadly miss you;
I who loved you very dear,
And in lonely hours of thinking
Often feel your presence near.
Though God has taken you away,
You are with me every day.

I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss her more
As I walk through life alone.

Loving husband, ELMER,
7-13-11-NY

In memory of our boy, P. George E.
Foster, who was killed in France one year ago today, July 13th, 1944.

Though you went to fight the battle
For our freedom here at home,
You will never be forgotten
By the ones you left alone.

One forever are your footsteps
That we used to hear each day,
You are now just a sad memory
For you're many miles away.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE W. FANSLER,

Mrs. Mae Brunk Commits Suicide, Corson Reports

Son Finds Local Woman Dead Beside Open Gas Pipe

Mrs. Mae F. Brunk, 53, wife of Welby L. Brunk, who members of the family said had been despondent over ill health for some time, was found dead yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock, lying beside an open gas pipe in a bedroom of her home, 418 Goethe street.

Dr. Lhine H. Corson, deputy county medical examiner, who investigated, issued a verdict of suicide by asphyxiation and set the time of death at about 2 p. m.

Dr. Corson reported that Mrs. Brunk had used a wrench to unscrew the cap from a gas connection in the room and was found lying in the room with her face beside the half-inch opening of the pipe. Dr. Corson added he was told that Mrs. Brunk had been despondent over ill health but had never shown any suicidal tendencies.

Detects Odor of Gas
Mrs. Brunk was found about 4:15 p. m. by her son, John, when he returned from work yesterday. He told authorities he found the front door locked and that when he opened the back door he detected a strong odor of gas. After checking appliances in the kitchen he went upstairs and found his mother lying on the floor of an extra bedroom.

Teoh, Sgt. John H. Newhouse and Officer John W. Snyder were dispatched to the home with a police rescuator but found that the woman had been dead for some time.

Officers said Mrs. Brunk was lying on a blanket, fully clothed, with a rose draped over her head which was lying beside the uncapped gas pipe. The wrench which was used to remove the cap was found nearby, police said. Officers added the smell of gas in the home was almost overpowering when they entered.

Assisting in the investigation were Pfc. M. Fletcher, assistant state's attorney, and Terence J. Boyle, county investigator.

Mrs. Brunk had been in ill health for the past three years.

She was a native of Reese's Mill, W. Va., a daughter of the late Samuel W. and Etta Flanagan. She was a member of the United Brethren church.

Two Children Survive
Besides her husband and her son, John, she is survived by one other son, Pfc. Roy S. Brunk, with the army in France, and her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Dearback, Wilkesboro, Pa. Efforts were being made last evening to contact Pfc. Brunk who was expected home soon.

Funeral arrangements were not completed last evening, but were tentatively set for Sunday at 2:30 p. m. in Calvary United Brethren church, Keyser. Interment will be in Queen's Point cemetery.

MICHAEL J. FARRELL
Michael Joseph Farrell, 4-year-old son of Charles J. and Lenore E. Farrell, 501 Eastern avenue, died yesterday afternoon at 1:15 o'clock in Memorial hospital where he was admitted Tuesday.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one sister, Lenore Elizabeth, and one brother, Robert Brian, both at home. The child's father, a veteran of the Indian war, is recuperating at Moore General hospital, Swannanoa, N. C.

The body will be taken to the home of his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna D. Farrell, 215 Cumberland street, this morning. Funeral arrangements will be completed last evening but interment will be in St. Patrick's cemetery.

MRS. GADBOIS RITES
Funeral services were conducted yesterday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic church for Mrs. Emma P. Gadbois, wife of Joseph L. Gadbois, who died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Willard L. Clay, 710 Yale street.

The Rev. Robert Kilgannon, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic church, Rideley, officiated at the requiem mass. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

GATES RITES HELD
Funeral services were held yesterday at 11 a. m. for Edward Gates, 50, 505 Green street, at his home. Mr. Gates died Monday after an illness of four months.

The Rev. G. Stanley Schindl, of St. Philip's Episcopal chapel, conducted the service. Burial was at Rose Hill chapel. Pallbearers were Robert Thompson, Mrs. Bruce G. Lawrence, Robert B. Gates, Henry Gates and William Stephens.

MRS. STURTZ RITES
Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in Melvin chapel for Mrs. Cora M. Sturtz, 74, widow of Charles H. Sturtz, who died Sunday afternoon at her home, 635 Baltimore street.

The Rev. Charles E. Shaw, former pastor of Melvin chapel, officiated at the rites and was assisted by the Rev. C. B. Reckley, acting pastor of the church. Interment was in Beneficial cemetery.

Pallbearers were L. V. Alderton, Bruce Smith, B. L. Moreland, Robert Street, Stanley Goodrich and Edward Wolfe.

Allegany Crops Are Showing Improvement
Crops in Allegany county are now beginning to crop up after a slow start County Agent R. F. McHenry said yesterday in surveying the situation.

In a report on the crop expectation McHenry said the corn crop is little short due to the dry spell in April; wheat is not up to normal; oats were reported as "real good"; pastures good; and the fruit crop, while not as heavy as normally, will be better than was anticipated earlier in the season.

Treating of Cross Ties Explained To Kiwanians
Potential wood treatment is unlimited and rapid strides will be made in preserving wood in the next twenty-five years, St. Thulow, of the Marietta, O. office of Koppers Company told members of the Kiwanis club in an address at Central YMCA yesterday at 12:15 p. m.

Thulow made the statement after explaining how cross ties are treated at the Green Springs, W. Va., plant of the company.

The average cross tie holds about three gallons of water when it is out, Thulow said. He told how the ties are placed in curing vats and outlined how they are treated.

The speaker asserted that it takes about eight hours to treat a tie but that it increases the life of the tie on a main line railroad from seven years to between twenty-eight and thirty years.

The B. and O. railroad is one of the largest purchasers of cross ties from Koppers, Thulow told the Kiwanians, adding that the company bought about two million ties from Koppers.

There are at least 500,000 ties on the Green Springs yard any day, Thulow said, however the average is usually around a million ties and he said the company at times has had a million and a half ties at the yard at one time.

The speaker gave a detailed account of the history of the Koppers company, telling the Kiwanians that it was organized in 1915 with about sixty employees. About six months ago it was merged with twenty-three different plants, and now employs about 25,000 persons. The company has more than 8,000 employees in the armed forces.

Last year the Koppers company furnished approximately twenty percent of all the ties used in the war effort, Thulow asserted. He said the company treats about eighteen per cent of all the wood treated in the country. It has twenty-one coal mines in West Virginia, one in Kentucky and another in Pennsylvania. The company makes 167 different products.

Cpl. Gray's wife, Mrs. Teresa Gray, and their four-year-old son live in Blairsville, Pa.

$1,181.06 Claim Filed Against Holzman Estate
A claim against the estate of the late Charles H. Holzman, former collector for the Port of Baltimore, and a well-known Cumberland drugist, was filed in circuit court yesterday by the Henry B. Gilpin Co., for $1,181.06.

The petition filed by Thomas Lohr Richards states that the late Mr. Holzman had real estate of great value and asks that the court appoint a trustee to sell such property as would settle the claim.

No inventory has as yet been returned on the Holzman estate of which the Second National Bank is administrator.

Building Permit Issued for Work At Hospital Here

Improvements at Memorial Are Expected To Get Underway Soon

An indication that improvements to Memorial hospital soon will get underway was yesterday with the issuance of a building permit for the contemplated work by Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

Plans call for porches on the first floor to be inclosed, office space rearranged, the pediatric department enlarged and a covered ambulance entrance constructed.

The John I. Vanlegrift Company was the successful bidder for the work and the cost of the alterations and improvements was estimated on the application for the building permit at $16,000.

A permit also was issued by Rizer yesterday to Jacob Goodman to occupy the first floor of the premises at 62 North Mechanic street as a new and second hand furniture and clothing store.

The storehouse, now vacant, formerly was occupied by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company for several months prior to moving into its new quarters on Baltimore street.

A building permit was issued yesterday to Mrs. W. R. Yost to construct a one room addition to a house on Eastern avenue. The permit was issued by the city engineer, according to the application, and the cost is estimated at $125.

Another building permit granted by Rizer was issued to Ethel Snyder for inclosing a porch at 43 Greene street. Cost of the work was estimated at $400.

Telephone Tip Leads to Capture Of Jail Breaker
Jack Koontz, 19, who slugged a deputy sheriff and escaped from the county jail Wednesday night was captured yesterday afternoon by city police at 29 Arch street after breaking into the South Cumberland establishments Thursday night in the company of a young companion.

A telephone call from an unidentified woman put city police on the trail of the escaped prisoner. The tip was received by Sgt. John H. Newhouse. The woman asked the police if they were still interested in capturing Koontz and then told the officer "he's at 29 Arch street."

Lieut. James E. Van and Officers C. D. Manges and P. C. Jenkins went to the Arch street address where they were joined by Officer John W. Snyder who had seen a youth he thought might be Koontz go up an alley in the rear of Arch street.

The officers surrounded the building and Lt. Van went to the upstairs where he found Koontz in a bedroom. The husky six-foot youth who had hit Deputy Sheriff Albert C. James in the eye with a shoe the night before, did not offer any resistance when faced by Lieut. Van.

Asked by the police officer why he had escaped, Koontz replied he "didn't know."

Following his escape Wednesday night Koontz fled to the home of Donald Payne, 15, 445 Race street, and induced the young man to join him in a breaking and entering spree in South Cumberland.

The Payne boy was arrested by Lieut. Van and Officers Jenkins and Manges after the pair had entered the Cumberland Motor Express Co. office on Second street, the Liberty Dairy plant at 450 Race street and the garage of Nelson W. Russler, 15 Virginia avenue.

When questioned by police Payne admitted his part in the breaking and entering jobs and also implicated Koontz, police said.

Royal avenue. At the conclusion of his visit here Lt. Commander McLean will report at Klamath Falls, Ore.

A native of Canada and a resident of Cumberland for the past twenty-one years, Dr. McLean enlisted in the United States Navy on May 7, 1945.

Dr. McLean is also a veteran of World War I, having served about twenty months in His Majesty's Transport Service. He was a physician on reconnaissance ships captured in British ports.

Lt. Commander and Mrs. McLean's only son, Pfc. Robert Neil McLean, has been overseas since February of this year and is stationed with the First Army in Pilsen, Czechoslovakia.

Lowndes Urges Teachers To Help Develop Better School Systems
TOWSON, July 12 (AP)—Tasker G. Lowndes, president of the state board of education, applauded today the transition of the Maryland public schools to a twelve-year curriculum and urged teachers to suggest other possible improvements to the handicapped and adult education.

Speaking before the state education conference at Towson State Teachers college, Lowndes said it was up to the county units to study the school system in the latter regard.

He told the teachers, "If you have thoughts and ideas that mean improvement for mankind, you should not hesitate to express them and to develop in your school systems those methods and procedures that will give us thinking men and women who will be able to solve our problems even if our generation cannot."

Special attention, he said, should be given to the program of citizenship, health and physical education, vocational education, education for the handicapped and adult education.

He asserted that the world's progress has come from dreamers and those who dared to take a progressive stand in the various phases of the world's work.

The state teachers conference, which opened July 2 for the purpose of making plans for the switch of the public schools from an eleven to a twelve-year curriculum, will close Saturday.

Col. McGuire Describes Horror Of Dachau Concentration Camp

County Exceeds Highest Series E Bond Quota

Allegany county exceeded its E bond quota of $1,350,000 in the Seventh War Loan drive, according to a report received here yesterday morning from the Federal Reserve bank at Richmond.

The total reported thus far was $1,412,256.75, more than $62,000 over the quota, with each mail bringing in additional purchases.

Exceeding the highest war bond goal the county has ever had was termed "gratifying" by John J. McMullen, county chairman, who said he would like to give "most of the credit where it belongs—right with the individual purchasers."

Community Chest Report Will Be Made by Agencies
A report to show the overall picture of how the nine agencies of the Cumberland Community Chest are serving all sections of the city is now being prepared, it was announced last night following a meeting of the Executive council of the Community Chest.

The study is being made by each agency from their activities for the month of June with regard to the number of persons using their services and facilities. Members of the Executive committee anticipate finding some interesting facts.

The final report will show the number of families who benefit from having a son in the Boy Scouts, a girl active in the Girl Scouts, the number of people participating in the activities of the "Y," and those receiving assistance and service from Associated Charities, the Keating Day Nursery, Baby Welfare Society, Salvation Army, Jewish Welfare and the Travelers Aid Society.

Such surveys made in other cities have shown that more than sixty per cent of the families of the community were receiving service of some kind from Chest agencies, and it is expected that the local survey will provide equally enlightening information on the coverage in Cumberland. It is anticipated that the survey will be completed early in August.

The financial report of the National War Fund in Allegany county and the Cumberland Community Chest presented at last night's meeting showed that $104,981.65 had been collected up to July 1, or eighty-one per cent of the $129,225 subscribed in the combined campaign last fall. In June a payment of $4,804.60 was made to the Red Cross, representing collections on pledges made through the union industrial section which solicited at that time for the War Fund, Chest, and Red Cross.

The Executive committee also approved the monthly reports of the Chest agencies which showed that all of them were in good financial condition and will be able to maintain their programs for the remainder of the fiscal year.

All Combined in One
The gas chamber, crematorium, huge bin room for interior storage of bodies awaiting cremation and, actually neat quarters for the German operators, were all combined in one long, low building which in the background of the photo showing the pile of bodies outdoors.

"That pile now is small, probably about a hundred bodies not counting those loaded on the three or four horse-drawn wagons ready to start on the way to the huge common graveyard. One of the impressive things about that pile now is the fact that for the past week they have been hauling bodies away at the rate of 200 per day. It figures out easily, doesn't it? In addition, there is the fact that the camp had been in operation for about five years—one of Germany's oldest and finest."

"I believe you can see even in the photographs that expressions on those dead faces show what kind of gas was being used. Those men knew they were dying and they weren't finding it easy. What you can't see in the photographs are the cases where the dogs had leaped and torn with horrid accuracy. However, they were there and I saw them. I also saw the bodies of two of the dogs—they all had been killed, and these two bodies were being kept as some sort of evidence. The kennels would house about twenty and in much better conditions than that afforded their future victims."

Packed with Bodies
"Another thing that doesn't show in any photo is what I call the bin room, about forty feet square and immediately adjoining the crematorium, which was packed with bodies to a depth of about six feet. They apparently had been there a long time because they kept coming close Saturday."

The ghastly horror of the notorious Nazi concentration camp at Dachau, Germany, is described with unusual vividness by Col. G. F. McGuire, of the army air forces, in a letter. Mrs. Sara S. Puncake, daughter of Mrs. Leander Schmidt, 315 Greene street.

Col. McGuire was at Hitler's "Eagle's nest" in the Alps at Berchtesgaden on V-E day, but a short time before that he saw the piles of rotting and decaying bodies of human beings slaughtered by the Germans at Dachau.

Numerous photographs of death at Dachau were taken by Col. McGuire and mailed to Mrs. Puncake with the hope that she would show them and the letter to her friends so they will "have something to remember perhaps ten years from now when we as a nation are tempted to be soft-hearted again."

America learned nothing from the First World War, Col. McGuire wrote in the letter dated May 22, adding that "unless we remember forever things like Dachau we will not have learned from this one either."

Superficial Appearance
The entrance to and superficial appearance of Dachau is much like that for any other large military establishment—a gate for guards, a fence or wall around the whole thing and lots of barracks and mess halls."

Col. McGuire added, "The effort that must have gone into making the entrance sign . . . indicates the Germans must have been pretty proud of Dachau."

Guard Officers Leave Tuesday For Annual Camp

Enlisted Men Will Report to Fort George Meade on July 22

Officers of Companies C and Maryland State Guard, will leave Cumberland Tuesday morning for Fort George Meade to begin annual guard encampment, and be followed within several days by the enlisted personnel, according to plans formulated Wednesday morning following an inspection of the companies by Eighth battalion officer.

An estimated fifty to sixty men from each company, or an eighty-four per cent of the personnel, will depart from the armory at 9 a. m. on Sunday, July 22, and will be transported to Fort Meade by the Seven Hundred Second Military police battalion. The camp will continue for remainder of the month.

Will Attend School
Under present plans, officers of the two companies will report to Fort Meade on Tuesday and spend the remaining days of a week attending officers' school.

The following Saturday, July mess sergeants and details from each company will leave the armory at 7 a. m. for the Fort Meade camp.

That night the MP battalion expected to arrive here in preparation for transporting men of the two companies to the camp on Sunday. Men who will go to camp will assemble at the armory at 8 a. m. and leave an hour later.

Headquarters of the local companies at Fort Meade will be located at the corner of Huber and Chalmers avenues.

Capt. Thomas F. Conlon will be in command of Company C, and Capt. Lester Bolinger has been named acting commander of D company.

Issue Equipment Monday
Last night Capt. Conlon said members of C company will meet at the armory at 7:30 p. m. coming Monday instead of Wednesday. The company will have other camp equipment will be issued Monday night, he said.

The inspection of the two companies Wednesday night was conducted by Lt. Col. William Patton Lane, commanding officer of the Eighth battalion, Maj. C. O. Diehl, battalion executive officer, and Lt. James B. Black, battalion supply officer.

Police, Firemen May Get Time Off
James Orr, commissioner of police and fire, yesterday promised members of the two departments time off with certain provisions.

Policemen were given a day off weekly if their committee prepared a fair and workable arrangement. Orr said, while firemen will be given similar time off if they can locate three men who will satisfactorily fill an equal number of vacancies on the fire department.

At the meeting with a committee representing the police department, both Orr and Chief of Police O. A. Eyerman agreed that the men should have a day off weekly. Orr said he intended to add men to the police department if they could be found, and Eyerman pointed out that he and Orr bear the criticism if the department does not function properly.

Orr commented that better work on the part of some officials needed or there would be a "shakedown" of the department. He said he was representing the firemen was that of a stormy affair, with Orr finally telling committee members, "You get the men and I'll put them on. I'll put them on and they can take the examination later. Get three men and there will be weekly days off."

COFFMAN APPEALS JAIL SENTENCE ON CRUELTY CHARGE
Charged with cruelty to animals, Victor Coffman, Brice Hollow road, filed an appeal yesterday after he was sentenced to serve thirty days in the county jail at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdue.

Coffman was charged with shooting and crippling a dog belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Bishop as he passed the Bishop home July 7.

Bishop testified that the dog, a pointer named "Pete," was riding with Russell Slider, also of Brice Hollow road.

Soon after the car passed the house, the court was told, a shot rang out and the dog returned crippled. The Magistrate said that was told the youth used a revolver to shoot the animal.

Slider was committed to the county jail for twenty days on charges of operating the car without an operator's license and of operating without tags. He denied the charge, attaches said, but was convicted after the Bishops testified they recognized him as the driver of the car.
